Wilson McCaskill

Shares his proven strategies that promote success and self confidence.

As parents and teachers, how can we support and guide our children to like themselves, be resilient and maintain friendships?

“Play is the universal language of children. It is very satisfying for parents knowing their children get along with other children, are liked by them and can play happily and harmoniously. Games play an important part in the developmental behaviour and social skills in children of all ages.”

This is particularly relevant for children with Asperger Syndrome or Autism. Come and listen to Wilson McCaskill, creator of The Game Factory and Development Workshop presenter speak on this important topic.

Ron Hedgcock

ASPERGERS 'L.A.L.' - (the Language and Logic of the Aspie)

There is often a rather unique sort of Language and Logic to be detected in the daily life of the Aspergers person. Just what is the thinking behind some of his unusual habits? Why does he have these specific characteristics? How might an intimate best communicate with him? Ron is an experienced orator & professional Actor and Lecturer, with experience in Stage, Radio, Film, Television and has just recently published a book. Some ten years ago, in his mid 60s, after much soul searching and investigation, he was given the diagnosis of AS by a well-known Melbourne professional.

In this programme, Ron comes to the ASSN to discuss some of the peculiarities that may be encountered in your resident tame Aspie. He will also be speaking about his new book, and doing a reading from that. Ron previously visited us three times, talking about his experiences and speculations with AS. Come and enjoy an illuminating and entertaining look at Asperger's Syndrome from the inside.
